Allen W. Dulles, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C.

Dear Allen:

I am writing in the interest of my constituent,

[redacted]
[redacted] who is most anxious to obtain employment with your Agency.

As I understand it, [redacted] was interviewed in Washington by a [redacted] of your staff, on June 7th, and filed the necessary application for employment.

Since then, he has heard nothing, and has asked me to look into the matter.

I should appreciate it if you would be good enough to advise me.

Sincerely yours,

R. W. Knowlton

R. B. Wigglesworth's Office.
